

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for controlling an interactive television system using voice commands. In one embodiment, a remote control device contains a microphone, into which a user may speak. Circuitry within the remote control device digitizes the speech. The speech may then either be processed by the remote control device or sent to a set top box (STB) for processing. The STB then performs the command given by the user.